APA Citation Style (7th edition)

There are two major reasons you are required to cite your sources:

1. To give credit for words or ideas belonging to another author. Failure to do this is plagiarism and can result in a failing grade and other negative consequences.
2. So that your instructor can verify your work. Your instructor should be able to take your citation and easily find the source you used. It is important that your citations be accurate.

The APA Format is one way of properly citing your sources. Ask your instructor which citation style you are required to use. APA references consist of two parts:

- A References list (the bibliography)
- In-text citations within the body of your paper or report

For a complete guide to APA, consult the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.), available in the library (BF 76.7 P83 2020).

The following guide has examples for the most common types of sources you will use. If you have questions, ask for help in the library, or contact a VCC librarian: http://library.vcc.ca/contact-us/phone--email--key-contacts/

Basic Rules

- Double-space the entire paper, including your reference list. Do not add an extra space between references.
- The References list appears at the end of your paper, with references in alphabetical order, by the last name of the first author (or corporate author).
- Second and all subsequent lines of each reference are indented 5-7 spaces. This is called a hanging indent, and you can set your word processing software to create it.

Additional Resources on APA Style

There are many excellent guides available online for APA style: Just Google “APA style guide”.

The Online Writing Lab (OWL) at Purdue University guide is considered one of the best: https://owl.purdue.edu/owl/research_and_citation/apa_style/apa_formatting_and_style_guide/general_format.html

They also have a sample paper you can look at for examples: https://owl.purdue.edu/owl/research_and_citation/apa_style/apa_formatting_and_style_guide/apa_sample_paper.html
In-Text Citations (In the body of your paper):

APA uses an author-date citation system in the body of the paper. Provide the author last name or the group name, plus the year (Name, year).

For a direct quotation, include the page number (Name, year, p. 2) or the page range if it continues onto a second page (Name, year, pp. 79-80). If there are no page numbers, cite the paragraph number (Name, year, para. 3) or a short form of the section heading.

One Author

Paraphrase
Public health officials' faith in vaccines indicates… (Schwarz, 2018).

Quote
Schwarz (2018) notes that the “excitement surrounding vaccines served as an early signal for the increasingly privileged place” of biomedical responses to public health crises (p. 1457).

Two Authors

Use the word “and” in the sentence and the ampersand symbol (&) in the parentheses.

Paraphrase
When measuring competencies of psychology students… (Poston & Bland, 2020).
In 2020, Poston and Bland argued that when measuring competencies of psychology….

Quote
When measuring competencies of psychology students, “the current climate… often [eschews] assessment of its own practice and effectiveness” (Poston & Bland, 2020, p. 68).

Three or More Authors

Paraphrase
Traditional Chinese medicine employs a holistic… (Ge et al., 2019).

Quote
Ge et al. (2019) explain that traditional Chinese medicine has “multiple effects” (p. 1).

Reference List Entries (at the end of your paper)

Articles from Journals, Magazines, & Newspapers:

Basic Format
Author Last Name, Initial(s). (Date). Title of article: Subtitle. Title of Periodical, volume number (issue number), pages. DOI or URL

What is a DOI?
DOI stands for “Digital Object Identifier.” A DOI permanently identifies an article.
(eg. http://dx.doi.org/10.25101/19.2)

Journal Article with a DOI
One to Twenty Authors:
http://dx.doi.org/10.1037/rev0000157

For continuous pages in an article, use a dash to note the page range (3-19).

Over Twenty Authors:

For over 20 authors, list the first 19 names followed by an ellipse (...), then the last author’s name. Notice: ‘sentence case’ for the article title and ‘title case’ for the journal title.

Online Article from a Database (without a DOI)

If your instructor asks that you include a permanent link to the online article, include it at the end of the citation. This is not required by the APA guide, but instructors can request it.

Newspaper Article
For newspaper articles, magazine articles, and blog posts provide full publication date (in year, month day order). Note: ‘sentence case’ for the article title, and ‘title case’ for the periodical title.

Magazine Article

Blog Post

Books and Reference Works:
Basic Format
Author Last Name, Initial(s). (Date). Title of book: Subtitle (edition if applicable). Publisher Name. DOI or URL

One Author/Editor
When a book has an editor instead of an author add Ed. or Eds. in parentheses after the name. Note: ‘sentence case’ for chapter titles and book titles.

One Author with an Edition Number:

Two to Twenty Authors/Editors

With a URL
https://press.rebus.community/introductiontocommunitypsychology/

Organization/Group as Author
NorQuest College. (2016). In the community: An intermediate integrated skills textbook. https://globalaccess.bowvalleycollege.ca/OER/NQC/In-the-Community/

No Author/Editor

If the author is unknown use the first couple of words of the title in place of the author’s name.

Audiobook

Chapter in a Print Book

Chapter in an Online or E-Book

Use pp. to show a book chapter page range. For continuous pages, use a dash to note the page range (pp. 4-5). For non-continuous pages, use a comma to note the pages (pp. 1, 4, 10-12).
