Vancouver Citation Style

The Vancouver Style is the citation style used by most biomedical journals and many scientific journals. It came out of a meeting of medical journal editors in 1978, held in Vancouver, BC, and is maintained by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE). It is also known as the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals.

The Dental Hygiene program at Vancouver Community College uses Vancouver Style in all assessment tasks. All sources used should be properly referenced according to the following guidelines. Proper citations are a reflection of your professionalism and respect for other scholars and practitioners. Failure to do so is plagiarism and is a serious academic offense.

Note: The Dental Hygiene program requires additional pieces of information when citing resources:

1. Where called for in Dental Hygiene assessment task directions, include the direct link to any article accessed through an online database, not just the name of the database. You will need to find a "permanent link" for the article. Consult the "Help" files for the database or contact the librarians.
2. Short URLs (also referred to as 'tiny') are recommended - see page 4.

Additional Resources on the Vancouver Style

For the complete guide to the Vancouver Style, please consult this online book:

Citing Medicine, 2nd ed.

<http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/books/bv.fcgi?rid=citmed.TOC&depth=2>

This book provides very detailed examples for almost any type and variation of resource: conference papers, wikis, journal articles with a supplement, etc.

Remember that the Dental Hygiene department uses a modified version of Vancouver Style, and that you will need to provide working links to any online material cited.

Using Vancouver Style

Vancouver Style uses in-text citations and a Reference List at the end of your document.

- Citations within the text of your paper are identified with a number in round brackets or numbers in superscript.
Example: Jones (8) has argued that...
 Jones ⁸ has argued that...
- References are numbered consecutively in the order they are first used in the text. The full citations will be included in the Reference List at the end of your document, with matching numbers identifying each reference.
- When multiple references are cited together, use a hyphen to indicate a series of inclusive numbers. Use commas to indicate a series of non-inclusive numbers. A citation with these references (4,5,6,7,14,19) is abbreviated to (4-7,14,19).
Example: Multiple clinical trials (4-6,9) show...
- The original number used for a reference is reused each time the reference is cited.
Example: “...the theory was first put forward by Lee (7) in 1999, but there was disagreement (3,5,8) over its importance.”
- Include the page number for any direct quotes or specific ideas.
Example: “...has been proven demonstrably false.” (4, p23)
- The citation in brackets is placed after any commas and periods, and before any colons and semi-colons.
Example: ...a new definition. (13, p111-2)
 ...this option is preferred (11);

Indirect Citations

An indirect source is when one author is quoted in the text of another author. These types of citations are generally not accepted in Vancouver Style, so seek permission from your instructor. Include the author and date of the original source in the text. Use “as cited in” or “as discussed in” to say where you found the quotation and provide the citation to that reference.

Example: James Wallace (2001) argued (cited by 5, p26), that...

Reference List

Provide full citations in your Reference List, included starting as a new page at the end of your document. Follow the examples included in this guide for different types of resources:

- Books
- Articles in Journals
- Websites
- Other Resources
- Personal Communication

Multiple Authors

Cite authors in the same way for all types of resources: articles, websites, videos, etc.

List up to the first 6 authors/editors, and use "et al." for any additional authors.

Articles in Journals

Journal articles can be accessed in three different ways: (1) from the print (paper) copy; (2) from the journal's website; or (3) from an online article database like Medline. You will cite the article differently depending on how you accessed it.

Standard Format for Journal Articles:

Author Surname Initials. Title of article. Title of journal, abbreviated. Date of Publication:
Volume Number(Issue Number): Page Numbers.

Finding the Journal Abbreviation

Vancouver Style does not use the full journal name, only the commonly-used abbreviation: "New England Journal of Medicine" is cited as "N Engl J Med".

If the abbreviation is not stated, use the PubMed Journals Database to find your journal: <http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/sites/entrez?db=journals>. The correct abbreviation will be listed.

Journal Article in Print

11. Haas AN, de Castro GD, Moreno T, Susin C, Albandar JM, Oppermann RV, et al. Azithromycin as a adjunctive treatment of aggressive periodontitis: 12-months randomized clinical trial. J Clin Periodontol. 2008 Aug; 35(8):696-704.

Creating Small URLs

If the URL of an article is long, go to:

www.tinyurl.com

Create a working link to a website that is shorter.

Websites

Standard Format for Websites:

Author Surname Initials (if available). Title of Website [Internet]. Place of publication: Publisher; Date of First Publication [Date of last update; cited date]. Available from: URL

Publication Information Online

Publication information is often unavailable on websites and is not standardized like books or journals.

Vancouver Style requires the "Place of Publication", the "Publisher" and the "Original Publication Date" as part of the citation. If these pieces of information are not given, use: [place unknown], [publisher unknown] or [date unknown].

Personal Communications

Personal Letters and Conversations

Personal communication (with the exception of email) should not be included in the Reference List, as they are unpublished and cannot be easily traced by the reader. Instead, acknowledge personal conversations and letters within the text in parentheses.

Conversation

“...in conversation with a fellow student from the Dental Hygiene program (Affleck, Ben. Conversation with: Matt Damon. 2008 Sep 07.)”

Personal Letter

“...this information was later confirmed in a letter (Hepburn, Katherine. Letter to: Spencer Tracy. 2005 Mar 03. 4 pages.)”

Email

Email correspondence is included in the Reference List as emails are easily traceable and dated.

Permission

When citing any personal communication, you must have written permission from the cited person(s) to use that communication. Acknowledge the permission in a footnote or in a “Notes” section at the end of the text.
